

Congressional Staff Article One Testimonials

“Article One really saved us when we got 700 calls in a night about net neutrality. Without it, I would have had to sneak away from the Thanksgiving table to empty the voicemail.” - House Staff Assistant

“Article One saves an incredible amount of time in logging constituent correspondence and helped us to get a more accurate reading of both who was calling in and what their concerns were.” - House Legislative Correspondent

“The increase in Volume of Voice Mail storage was great. And it’s so easy now to share voicemails with other members of our staff.” - House Legislative Correspondent

“Checking voicemails can take a while to do and it leaves one less person available to answer the phones. I also liked that I could access the voicemails right away and scan them quickly for anything important.” - House Staff Assistant

“Article One is helping our office be far more efficient with every constituent call.” - House Chief of Staff

“Article One is saving our staff valuable time, so that we can focus on more important things than cleaning out the voicemails by hand every day and trying to write down every constituent message.” - House Legislative Director

“This was an incredible experience. I was shocked at how often the Article One team communicated with us, and how consistent and positive the team was.” - House Legislative Correspondent

“Article One saved my interns time when checking voicemails and it was easy for me to quickly review them. I think the Article One team did a great job making sure we were keeping track of how much time we were saving by using it, answering any questions we may have, in addition to asking for our feedback regularly.” - House Legislative Correspondent

"Before Article One it would take up to two hours per day to handle our voicemail. Oftentimes we would push it to the next day and it would pile up. Now, with Article One it takes only minutes." - House Staff Assistant

"Article One really changes the broken relationship between our constituents and my boss. Price isn't a factor when you're returning real, measurable time to staff like me who don't have any." - House Chief of Staff

"Anyone who has been an Intern or Staff Assistant in Congress knows the pain of logging constituent voicemails. Article One removes that pain for me and our team." - House Staff Assistant

"Article One's audio-to-text transcription with the audio file right there is killer." - House Legislative Correspondent
